THE CHINESE MURDER

Inquest on the Body of the Dead Woman.

RESULT OF THE POST MORTEM

The Jury Return a Verdict That She Met Her Death at the Hands of Wong Ark.

Coroner Weldon, assisted by Dr. Kannan, yesterday held a post mortem on the body of Ah Guo, the Chinese woman murdered by her husband, or owner, Wong Ark, in front of a brothel in Chinatown Sunday night. It was found that the bullet entered the abdomen just above and to the right of the navel, raring downward and cutting the intestines in two places, then striking the spine and glancing off, presumably burying itself in the thigh. The surgeons made a close search for the bullet, but did not succeed in finding it, and finally gave up. From the fact, however, that two pistols were found when the murderer was arrested, and the bullet is likely to cut quite an important part in the trial, another trial will probably be made this morning to find the missing missile. All of the organs of the body were found to be in a healthy condition, and after satisfying themselves that the wound was sufficient to cause death, the surgeons did not think it necessary to proceed further.

THE INQUEST.

Two o'clock was the hour set for the inquest, but long before that time a gang of Chinamen were in front of the police station, where it was thought by the heathens that the examination would be had. They said that the inquest would be held at Ore & Sun, on Spring street, and moved down to that place.

Promptly at 2 o'clock the hearing began, the first witness being Ah Duck, the keeper of the brothel in front of which the woman was found, when she had been living for several months.

Ah Duck was a very unwilling witness, with a very defective memory, and only told what he was compelled to, talking through an interpreter. In substance he said that the woman had been brought to him by Gam Duck, one of the names by which Wong Ark is known—but whether she was his wife or slave he could not say. Wong Ark came to the house to see her, but whether he lived in the house or not he could not say. He knew that she had been shot, but whether there had been a quarrel or not, he could not say. He heard the pistol shot, and rushed out on the sidewalk, where the woman was. He did not see anyone run away from the place, but the name that Gam Duck (Wong Ark) had shot her.

As there was some doubt in the minds of the jury as to the identity of Gam Duck and Wong Ark, the murderer was brought in at this point by Detectives Auble and Bond. Ah Duck refused to identify him, but the man produced and called Wong Ark, was known to him as Gam Duck, and after having his identity thoroughly established, the heathen was let out, and Duck continued his testimony.

Detective Auble seemed to be afraid of something, and tried to shield Ark all in his power. He said that he did not know who did the shooting, and could only tell what he heard. The woman had said that Gam Duck had shot her. He did not know that she had ever had any quarrels; he had nothing to do with it, only paid attention to his own business.

Gook May, the wife of Ah Duck, was the next witness. She was in her room the night the shooting occurred, lying down, and when she awoke she saw Ah Guo sitting on the sidewalk. She went to her, and the woman said that Gam Duck had shot her. Duck had been in the room with the woman some time before, and remained silent, taking no notice of the noise of voice. He then left, and half an hour later the shooting occurred. Duck, or Wong Ark, was in the habit of visiting the houses.

Detective Wallin testified to taking the evidence of the woman in which she said that Wong Ark had shot her, and that he did not give him money to gamble; that he had a quarrel with her, then left and returned and shot her.

Dr. Wing, who attended the woman at the police station also said that Detective Wallin had said that Wong Ark did it. The other women also said the same thing.

Another Chinese woman was also examined, after which the jury returned a verdict, and the coroner adjourned the trial to the effects of a gunshot wound from a pistol in the hands of Gam Duck, commonly known as Wong Ark.

THE MURDERER ARRAIGNED.

Yesterday afternoon Wong Ark was arraigned before Justice Owens on a charge of murder, after which he was committed to jail. The murderer takes the matter very coolly. His countenance indicates that he is greatly worried, but he still refuses to talk about his crime, and to appear unconcerned. As far as known he has not yet engaged any attorney, and will take his time before making a selection.

Mr. Brown is accompanied on his tour by Rev. John H. Hector, a son of slave parents, his father and mother having been slaves on the ground where John Brown was hanged. He served through the war, first as body servant to Gen. Grant, and afterward as historian, and is a member of the Grand Army. He first made Mr. Brown's acquaintance in Southern California and visited him in his home town.

"Notwithstanding we were ill-treated, three of my brothers killed and my father and six of his men hanged, I buried thirty years ago—all will, all unluckiest feelings that I had ever cherished toward the southern people. This is also true of the remaining members of my family. The people of the South have no true friends than we are."

When the devil was sick his eagerness to become a monk is historical. A small New Yorker has been finding in the same way that altered conditions have a pronounced effect upon one's ambition. He is the son of a lawyer, and his admiration for his father has led him to announce frequently that when he became a man he intended to be "just the same business as papa." He fell ill, however, and the services of the family physician were sought with prompt and fortuitous effect. Convalescence is apt to engender reflection, and the small Rogers became thoughtful the other afternoon, with this result: "I guess, mamma," he said, apropos of nothing, "I will not be in papa's business when I grow up. I would rather be a doctor, because, you see, he can't die."—Her Point of View in New York Times.

Evenings with Warman.

A good audience listened to the first of Prof. E. B. Warman's lectures at the Y. M. C. A. Hall, last evening, on the subject "True and False Eloquence." Prof. Warman has won wide reputation as an author and a lecturer, and shows much thought and originality. He clearly outlined his ideas of true eloquence, insisting upon naturalness and freedom from the strained and affected.

He interspersed his lecture with numerous illustrations, many of which were very humorous. As a lecturer he is witty, entertaining and instructive, and is doing good service in teaching pure taste in the art of reading and reciting.

Right the same evening is the "Desartes Philosophy of Expression," in which he treats of the proper cultivation of voice and body.

KNIGHTS TEMPORAL GRAND OFFICERS.

Her L. Hooper, grand prelate;

Ed S. Lipps, grand senior warden;

T. H. Ward, grand junior warden;

John F. Merrill, grand treasurer;

John C. Caswell, grand border;

W. B. Miller, grand standard bearer;

George Metallic, grand sword bearer;

R. Powers, grand warden;

Samuel D. Mayer, grand organist;

James Ogleby, grand captain of the guard.

JASON BROWN'S STORY.

Some of His Kansas Experiences Related in Philadelphia.

An historic figure, one of the men who made history, in those days, was no man who believed in "free soil for free men" was safe for a hour in "bleeding Kansas," is in this city in the person of Jason Brown, second son of John Brown, the hero of Harper's Ferry, says a Philadelphia paper. Mr. Brown, who is a patriarchal, pleasant-featured, gray-haired and gray-bearded gentleman of 80 years, strongly resembling his father, has been living for the past seven years near Pasadena, Cal.

On his arrival there with but $1.06 in his pockets, he took up a claim of 120 acres of Government land in the foothills of the Sierra Madre, 2000 feet above the sea, and 1100 feet above the town of Pasadena. It was found that the bullet entered the abdomen just above and to the right of the navel, raring downward and cutting the intestines in two places, then striking the spine and glancing off, presumably burying itself in the thigh. The surgeons made a close search for the bullet, but did not succeed in finding it, and finally gave up. From the fact, however, that two pistols were found when the murderer was arrested, and the bullet is likely to cut quite an important part in the trial, another trial will probably be made this morning to find the missing missile. All of the organs of the body were found to be in a healthy condition, and after satisfying themselves that the wound was sufficient to cause death, the surgeons did not think it necessary to proceed further.

THE INQUEST.

We took Government land, and very soon after we were waited upon by a squad of pro-slavery men, mostly from Missouri, who wished to find out how we stood on the slavery or, as they called it, the "goose question." They told them that we were abolitionists, and that the next winter would be held at Ore & Sun, on Spring street, and moved down to that place.

Promptly at 2 o'clock the hearing began, the first witness being Ah Duck, the keeper of the brothel in front of which the woman was found, when she had been living for several months.

Ah Duck was a very unwilling witness, with a very defective memory, and only told what he was compelled to, talking through an interpreter.

"About this time I was taken prisoner by a squad headed by a man named Martin White, who I immediately recognized as having been in our camp, and who I now know to have been a spy. I had started across the prairie to visit a Sol. Indian camp. They took me to their camp, and meeting these men I inquired the way to Jones's house. As soon as I spoke his name they leveled their guns at me and yelled: 'You're one of the very men we are looking for.' They took my revolver and what little money I had, and ordered me to go on ahead. Believing that I was to be shot, I backed about twenty rods and told them that I was a Free State man and an Abolitionist, and if they wanted my blood for that they might take it. At the same time I pulled open my vest, saying, 'There is a mark for you.' Most of them threw their guns across their saddle-bows and told me they would not kill me at that time. They were taken to their camp, where 300 or more were gathered. They had a stout, new weapon, and were ready to fight. I told them that the woman son of John Brown and an Abolitionist, but if they wanted my life for me to visit the spring, and meeting these men I inquired the way to Jones's house. JEALOUS EASTERN HORTICULTURISTS.

We referred yesterday to a statement by the Chicago Herald, to the effect that Frank A. Kimball of San Diego would receive the appointment as chief of the department of agriculture at the World's Fair. A recent dispatch from Chicago to the Chronicle states that the eastern horticulturists have combined to keep California from getting the position. Director-General Davis was visited by a committee that met in Chicago by appointment to protest against California for the place.

The dispatch says: "White Cotton, Louisiana..... 559,712 559,800

AMUSEMENTS.

LOS ANGELES THEATER.—The Men- delessohn Quintette Club of Boston did not succeed in drawing a large house last night; in fact, considering the high reputation of the club on the one hand and the well-known number of musical connoisseurs in Los Angeles on the other hand, the scanty patronage accorded to this singing appearance of the quintette during this season was remarkable. Perfectly recollection of the way in which the club came on its last appearance here in order to get away by the night train may have interfered with a large reception now.

The quintette at present consists of Isaac S. Stiles, Sam W. Jenkins, Paul Henneberg, flute and viola; Paul Jenkins, violincello and that "ancient of days" rare old Thomas Ryan, clarinet and viola. It is needless to say persons with all the delicious smoothness and grace characteristic of the efforts of this organization. It was a little annoying, though, to find that the printed programme was disregarded, and that without explanation, persons in view of the artistic endeavour of the entertainers such eccentricities should be overlooked, particularly when their performance consisted altogether of a cluster of musical gems, faultless in setting and worthy to adorn a more brilliant occasion.

Miss Marie Dyer, the soprano, is a person with a pleasant sympathetic voice of considerable power and a rare faculty for interpretation, especially shown in the baldest selections, which were delightfully rendered.

The concluding number, "Forget Me Not," was given by Alice Mitchell, a new arrangement for the quintette by Paul Henneberg was deliciously rendered, and seems destined to become a feature of all the concerts given by the company.

Tomorrow night Si Plunkard.

E. R. WARMIN.—This distinguished lecturer gave the interesting discourse of his series at the Y. M. C. A. Hall last night to a full audience, which was much interested in the subject of the evening, "Truth and False Education." The next lecture will be given tonight upon the "Desarts Philosophy of Expression," a topic upon which Mr. Warmin has a vast fund of information.

GRAND OPERA HOUSE.—The sale of seats for Herrmann's entertainment opening tomorrow night is reported as highly satisfactory. This evening the amateur performance of farce and operetta, under the direction of Mrs. J. D. Cole and Mrs. Henry Ludlam, will draw a big house.

LITTLE FACTS.

A street car at Atchison, Kan., has been painted black for funeral purposes.

A philologist estimates that the coinage of new words goes on the rate of 100 annually in the English language.

Five Turkish students, whose expan-ses will be defrayed by the Sultan, have arrived at the University of Berlin.

It is stated that at least one person in three between the ages of ten and forty years is subject to partial deafness.

The great majority of cases of deafness are hereditary and due to the close consanguinity of the parents.

The only man tried, found guilty and executed for treason during the existence of the United States was William B. Mumford in 1862. The execution took place in New Orleans under an order of Gen. Benjamin F. Butler.

seriously to test. In fact, earthquakes appear to have gone off East since the overland railroad was completed.

Meantime, Los Angeles with its thirty-six square miles of territory fortunately still has land enough to make it unnecessary for people to carry on their business in the clouds. THE TIMES expects to keep the top of its castle within hailing distance of the ground for a good many years yet.

In the Record-Union, William H. Mills advertises for sale fruit land in the Capay Valley, Yolo county, ninety miles from San Francisco, at from $50 to $150 an acre. The prospectus says that "similar unimproved land in Vacaville has recently been sold at $400 and $500 per acre." Without desiring to intimate that these lands are too dear, we desire to call attention to the fact that high-priced lands are not confined to Southern California, as a person might be led to believe from a perusal of some of the northern journals.

FROM Italy the news comes that the ports are thronged with intending emigrants, and families, from the patriarch to the babe, can be seen trudging along the highways that lead to the points of departure. It is also announced that Signor Chimirri, the Minister of Agriculture of Italy, proposes to divert the stream of emigrants flowing to America out of Italy to the Roman Campagna and Sardinia. Good luck to Signor Chimirri! Let us trust that his efforts will not be considered chimerical by the Italians.

Now there is a diplomatic question between the United States and China. It is said that China has expressed its unwillingness to receive Mr. Blair as minister at Peking. Mr. Blair, like the bulk of the American people, is opposed to the immigration of Chinamen to this country. If the Chinese want minister who takes an opposite view, they will have to get a man who is not in touch with the sentiment of the country.

A CENSUS bulletin gives the white and black population in various States. The largest number of colored men are found in Georgia, where there are 863,710. Mississippi, South Carolina, Alabama and Virginia follow close behind. In three States the colored population preponderates as follows:

Black Color, Mississippi.....	559,703	747,720

Ex-President Cleveland will probably visit Buffalo next month to attend the opening of the new club-house of the Cleveland Democracy.

Sir Edwin Arnold is in the Mikado of Japan, and is always obliged to walk alone in public, his arm being considered too sacred for even the Empress to take.

Let us take a few samples of the way in which the fruit industry is pictured.

A short time ago I saw in a Los Angeles paper that a man in Fresno,

I think, had picked from a lemon tree of a given age, certain quantity of lemons.

He then puts down and calculates on a basis of so many trees to the acre, and multiplies the product by 55 cents per dozen as the price of lemons. Now what can be more absurd?

What grower ever gets near that price for lemons? Come next home, I know a gentleman who gave to the newspaper of the town in which he lived, an item, which I have seen copied broadcast, that lemon trees at 6 years old will produce $2500 per acre!

That gentleman I know has twenty acres set out to various fruits, part of which are lemons—trees, 7 years old—and if he can show, that is off his whole place, he has sold $2500 worth of fruit, including his two acres of 7-year-old lemon trees, I will give $25 to the charity he will name.

Again, in the Los Angeles Herald of recent date, appeared the statement that A. B. Chapman had sold 4000 oranges or oranges, after having shipped 6000 boxes him.

He said that he had been misinformed to the extent of $15,000.

Last comes Harvey C. Stiles of San Diego, in the Sun, with a possible profit on lemons of $4500 to $5000 per acre from 12-year-old trees! This is his basis: Trees, seventy per acre; lemons, $8 per box; yield, per tree, twenty-five boxes. Now I have no doubt this is Mr. Stiles' theory. Who has reduced it to practice? How seldom the $3 price is realized, every grower knows. As to the yield, perhaps some one can show it, but I gravely doubt it.

Now there can be but one result to such exaggerated statements. A great deal more fruit will be produced than can find a market, and there will be surplus. The growers will then wait for a market, and when it comes, will get a low price. The market will be oversupplied, and the price will be lowered still. The market will be

RUSSIAN PERSECUTION OF JEWS. ODESSA, April 28.—[By the Associated Press.] Dispatches received from the British column advancing upon Manipur state that a great fire has been seen in the direction of the capital, and a loud explosion which took place during the conflagration seems to indicate that the capital is destroyed.

Dispatches received here yesterday stated that British troops are within ten miles of Imphal, the capital of Manipur, and that Imphal is to be taken if possible by assault this morning.

The British column recently at Silchar engaged and utterly routed the enemy at Bissenspur. Gen. Graham's column Saturday last surprised a force of about 1,000 Manipuris entrenched behind earthworks. The British force first cut off the retreat of the Manipuris, and then charged upon them. A savage hand-to-hand conflict followed. The enemy was completely routed, losing 200 men. One of the British officers was killed and four wounded.

MANIPUR TAKEN—REVOLTING SIGHT.

SIMLA, April 28.—The British column has met and entered Manipur, which they found totally deserted. The magazine had exploded and the palace had been wrecked and stripped of everything of value.

A ghastly sight was witnessed in the enclosure where the heads of Commissioner Quinton and others of the English party were found.

VON MOLTKE'S FUNERAL.

Emperor William and His Family Take Part in the Pageant.

BERLIN, April 28.—[By Cable and Associated Press.] Funeral services over the remains of Field Marshal von Moltke took place at 11 o'clock this morning in the ball-room of the general staff building. Emperor William, the King of Saxony, grand dukes of Baden, Saxe-Weimar and Hesse, the principal members of the royal family of Germany, together with leading German generals, were present. The services lasted forty-five minutes.

The casket containing the field marshal's remains was then carried with much ceremony to the hearse, which was drawn by six horses. After passing through the streets lined with troops and packed with spectators, the remains arrived at the Lehrte station at 1 o'clock in the afternoon and were placed upon a railroad car draped in black. Along the route of the procession to the railroad station the hearse was preceded by Col. Gessler, carriage master of Moltke, field marshal's baton, and by all the officers of the general staff, carrying the insignia and orders conferred on Count von Moltke during the course of his distinguished career. The casket was covered with large numbers of floral wreaths sent from all parts of Germany, and from many parts of Europe. Emperor William, members of the royal families of Germany and German generals followed the hearse to the railroad station.

During the ceremony in the general staff building the Emperor was moved to tears. Bismarck sent an immense wreath and the following telegram:

With profound sorrow I have received a telegram announcing the irreparable loss sustained by the Fatherland. I feel deeply and sincerely owing to the fact it has been volunteered to me to enjoy for several decades Von Moltke's glorious cooperation and the invariable amiability he displayed in our close friendly relations.

THE POPE'S ENCYCLICAL.

It Will Deal with Important Social Questions.

ROME, April 28.—[By Cable and Associated Press.] A prominent dignitary of the Catholic church talking with a representative of the Associated Press concerning the forthcoming encyclical letter of the Pope on social questions said that the Pope has condensed the doctrines of the greatest theologians on these matters and adapted them to the requirements and conditions of the present epoch. He also has brought into requisition the leading intellects of the United States and Europe. He treats with equity on the rights and duties of capital and labor, the state and the individual. He is neither for nor against any interest or school. He greatly deplores any divisions in the Catholic party tending, as they do, to diminish the social influence and moral action of the church.

"The encyclical," said the dignitary, "will make a considerable impression, for it is an enlightened work aiming solely at unity and conciliation. It will not be a cry of protest against all elements which form modern life. He seeks to conciliate them all by the acceptance of all legitimate interests and by reciprocal respects for all rights. A delicate matter is in regard to state intervention. It is uncontested that the church can not give upon these purely historical contingencies absolute instructions. Social problems are continually changing and modifying. Things that are good and equitable today are old and inapplicable tomorrow. Therefore the Pope will be found, from a doctrinal point of view, somewhat reserved on this matter. Nevertheless, he demands relative intervention, changing according to places and circumstances whenever justice, legitimate interests and disregarded rights require it."

FOREIGN NOTES.

An Ugly Charge Hanging Over A Candidate for the Commons.

LONDON, April 28.—[By Cable and Associated Press.] A hearing on the charge against C. A. Fyfe, a well-known historian, was to have been held today, but owing to the critical condition of the accused, who, overwhelmed by the charge, cut his throat yesterday, the court granted an adjournment. Fyfe is a candidate of the Liberal party for a vacant seat in the House of Commons. His character has always been above suspicion. The charge against him, that of committing an indecent assault upon a boy in a railway train, is believed to be entirely unfounded.

Emperor William and His Family Take Part in the Pageant.

BERLIN, April 28.—[By Cable and Associated Press.] Funeral services over the remains of Field Marshal von Moltke took place at 11 o'clock this morning in the ball-room of the general staff building. Emperor William, the King of Saxony, grand dukes of Baden, Saxe-Weimar and Hesse, the principal members of the royal family of Germany, together with leading German generals, were present. The services lasted forty-five minutes.

The British column recently at Silchar engaged and utterly routed the enemy at Bissenspur. Gen. Graham's column Saturday last surprised a force of about 1,000 Manipuris entrenched behind earthworks. The British force first cut off the retreat of the Manipuris, and then charged upon them. A savage hand-to-hand conflict followed. The enemy was completely routed, losing 200 men. One of the British officers was killed and four wounded.

MANIPUR TAKEN—REVOLTING SIGHT.

SIMLA, April 28.—The British column has met and entered Manipur, which they found totally deserted. The magazine had exploded and the palace had been wrecked and stripped of everything of value.

A ghastly sight was witnessed in the enclosure where the heads of Commissioner Quinton and others of the English party were found.

BUSINESS.

OFFICE OF THE TIMES.
LOS ANGELES, April 29, 1891.

A few loads of new baled oat hay came in today, and sold ready to dealers for $13 a ton. There is plenty of loose barley hay in the city, but no new baled has yet arrived, although some is expected in a few days. The new-crop hay, both oat and barley, is of fine quality and remarkably clean. In the course of a week it is expected that sufficient quantities will arrive to cause a drop of $2 per ton or more all around.

Eggs have been coming in very liberally this week, and as a result the market is weak and lower.

There is nothing new in butter, supplies being plentiful and prices unimproved.

Potatoes are firm, but quotations are unchanged.

Money, Stocks and Bonds.

NEW YORK, April 28.—MONEY—On call easy; closing offered at 2½ percent.

PRIME MERCANTILE PAPER—5½%.

STERLING EXCHANGE—Firm, strong; 50-day bills, 4.85%; demand 4.89.

NEW YORK, April 28.—The stock market today displayed a marked improvement, and while no material advances were scored in the general list the cessation of the pressure to sell and an uniform improvement in values went a great way to restore confidence among the smaller class of speculators. The close was fairly active and firm at close to the best prices of the day.

Government bonds were steady.

PASADENA IN SUMMER.

A Few Suggestions to Winter Visitors.

BETTER STAY AND TRY IT

A Pennsylvania Excursion Arrives—Mr. Fleming Explains—The Present of a Pony-A Batch of Brevities.

To the strangers who have passed a pleasant winter in Pasadena for health or pleasure's sake and who now contemplate returning East for the summer, a few suggestions are here professed:

In the first place, don't go if you don't have to. There is no more delightful spot in the country in which to pass the summer as well as winter than Pasadena. Ask those of our own residents who have tried it and they will bear out this statement. For the next five months, barring a few probable showers, no rain will fall. The sun will shine day in and day out from a cloudless sky. The mercury will at times seek alitudinous heights, but the heat will not be oppressive. A cool breeze will blow in from the sea every morning and when this dies away toward noon, the breeze from the mountains will come to the rescue and minister unto your comfort by making the late afternoons and nights cool enough for light overcoats and blankets. Some mornings when you awake a fog will hang over town, but the sea breeze will soon drive it away, and its cooling effect on the atmosphere will be quite noticeable. Last summer there were only three days when it was uncomfortably hot. How many of the eastern cities can say as much?

There will be plenty to amuse you. This country has endless resources for the amusement of all, summer or winter. You can ride, drive, walk or pedal your bicycle. When you weary of any or all of these pastimes, there is Mt. Wilson to claim your attention, ascended in an easy trial and with two hours' rest. In Los Angeles where you can while away a week or a month in a delightful manner viewing nature at her best. Another favorite spot is Switzer's Camp, in the heart of the Sierra Madres, where you can laugh and grow fat, your appetite whetted by the purest of mountain air and as much outdoor exercise as you can comfortably attend to.

The riders will assemble for the valley hunt next Saturday morning at 9 o'clock at the junction of Orange Grove avenue and California street. Luncheon will be served at Devil's Gate?

All but seven members of Company B were present at drill Monday evening. Several of the absences were out of town, and the absence of one man is particularly to be regretted. Last summer there were only three days when it was uncomfortably hot. How many of the eastern cities can say as much?

The annual Mayday festival of the Universalist church will be given Friday evening at Morgan Hall. A prominent feature of the entertainment will be a dance about a Maypole participated in by sixteen boys and girls. A reception and dancing will follow.

J. F. Halstead and partner, the South Pasadena dairymen, have started a big creamery at Westminster, Orange county. The plant is being operated on a large scale, it being estimated that from $1200 to $1500 will be paid out each month among the farmers for milk.

The State Railroad Commissioners met at San Francisco on Monday. The terminal road rate matter came up and action was postponed another week. This sort of thing is becoming monotonous. The statement that the attorney for the people had filed a new brief is incorrect.

One of the Pennsylvania excursion parties arrived in Pasadena about 7 o'clock yesterday evening. About sixty of the guests are at Hotel Green for a two days' stay. Among others in the party are: R. C. Carson and wife, Mrs. H. L. Henry, Mrs. Shannon, Mrs. Bennett, Mrs. Nyce and Miss Nyce of Fairhaven, Wash.

Two Pasadenaans were heard yesterday discussing the antiquity of the Spanish Church on the Plaza, Los Angeles. One thought the edifice was about a century old, and the other opined that it was built even longer ago than that. The year in which the church was built is painted on the building. It was just thirty years ago.

Miss Nellie Howard, who has spent the winter at the hotel, returned on Saturday from a week's stay at Pomona. Miss Howard leaves for home at Port Huron, Mich., this week.

Among the New Yorkers at the hotel are J. F. Lockman and wife, O. H. P. Champlin, Jr., and Mr. Hugheas.

Late arrivals include L. D. Woodin, London; P. L. Buderding, R. H. Birns and wife, Pittsburgh, Pa.; Lewis L. Jones, Napa; Mrs. McPherson, New York; P. Garute, Miss Kerr, L. Goff, S. H. Mott, H. K. Gregory, M. Lee Young, A. Luckeback, E. L. Allen and lady, E. J. Morris, Los Angeles; W. B. Judson, M. B. Judson, L. M. Brown and wife, H. Arnolda and wife, Henry Guth and wife, Chicago, A. S. Willard, Riverside; C. H. Riddins and wife, Frank W. Bain, Philadelphia; Miss May Stevens, Port Huron, Mich.

Mr. Fleming Rises to Explain.

The following note was received yesterday from S. J. Fleming of South Pasadena:

"Kindly correct error made in Wednesday's issue relative to Star Course ticket and nothing whatever to do with the Star Course in Pasadena. That was arranged for by H. A. Detering of Fresno and G. A. Cavalier of Los Angeles. Knowing of the failure of the course in Pasadena, I at one time offered to honor the tickets if presented here in Los Angeles. But in this I was under no obligation to the managers."

A Handsome Present.

A few days ago Mr. and Mrs. Isenburg and children, Elsie and Carl, who have spent the winter at the residence of Charles Foster, on Markham avenue, left for their home at Melrose, Mass. Just before their departure Elsie and Carl drove to the residence of Rev. Dr. Conger and presented to his children, Ray and Lida, the handsome white and dark harness, two robes and two saddles. The girl was a most generous one, and was altogether unexpected. And now Ray and Lida are the happiest children in town as they ride behind their prancing little steed.

BREVITIES.

A social was given in Odd Fellows' Hall last night.

The strangers were particularly numerous yesterday.

Such days as these are the kind we read about and remember.

The overland train has been coming regularly on time of late.

A monthly Y. M. C. A. business meeting was held last night.

A rehearsal of the Bohemian Girl will be held this evening at the Frost Block.

Misses Lillian Burnett and May E. Curran were guests of Mrs. M. M. Boyd, Saturday.

Mrs. L. Snoot and her daughter, Miss Lucy, have returned to the University, and have rented a cottage on Thirteenth street.

E. Howe is moving his household goods into his new residence on East Colorado street.

The Catalina season promises to open early. Several Pasadenaans are on the island now.

H. E. Pratt will, today, move his place of residence from Olivewood to Vermont avenue and Adams street, on May 8.

G. B. Byram has given up his studies at the University and returned to his home at Lamanda Park.

Wesley Patterson has gone to Riverside.

Some sports, returning at a racing speed from Agricultural Park, were badly shaken up by the upsetting of their buggy, last Friday, at the corner of Jefferson street and Wesley ave-

A football game was played on the Jefferson-street grounds last Saturday. The contesting elevens were from the public school and Thirtieth street.

While it was the first match game for most of the boys, still they did well and afforded much amusement for the spectators. The Invincibles, or University eleven won by a score of 10 to 6.

SIERRA MADRE.

SIERRA MADRE, April 28.—[Correspondence of THE TIMES.]

The warm weather is at hand, large parties are starting up the mountain every day, bound for Wilson's Peak.

S. H. Homes & Co. sent up a lively party of ladies this morning to Wilson's Peak. They were Mrs. McNamer and five lady friends, all from Los Angeles.

Messrs. Martin & Finch of Pasadena sent up a large train of pack burros containing a part of the outfit of their camp and hotel, at the Pete Stile site of last year, this morning also.

Three brothers, Messrs. Henry, James and William McGavock, are respectively 6 ft. 6 in., 6 ft. 5 in. and 6 ft. 7 in. tall. Two brothers, near neighbors of mine, Andrew and William Ingles, are each 6 ft. 4 in., while several others in Plasencia county, whose height I cannot give from positive knowledge, are known to be upward of six feet. In fact I believe the men of this county will average at least six feet tall.

In the adjoining county of Montgomery, near me, there are two brothers, one of whom, Mr. James Childress, is 6 ft. 7 in. in height and weighs 235 pounds; the other, Mr. Thomas P. Childress, is 6 ft. 6 in. high and weighs 205 pounds.

William Myers, of the same county, is 6 ft. 5 in. and weighs 240 pounds.

A Mr. Urquhart, of Lynchburg, is 6 ft. 5 in. tall and weighs 300 pounds, and a Mr. Fetherston, of the same place, is 6 ft. 7 in.—Yonathan's Companion.

A ROSE.

I found a rose on the stones today—

This midwinter day, with its low-lying sky Andairy streets; yet the white rose lay

In its whiteness, starting to meet my eye.

And wherever, O Rose, with your faint breath sweet,

And your fairness, lying 'neath careless feet?

Dropped from the breast of a bride, my fair, As they brought her home from the holy shrines.

The bridal music haunting the air.

Deep thrilling the soul with a rhythm divine,

Till her full heart throbbed with a new joy,

sweet,

And you left its warmth for the wintry street?

Droped from the bier of the blessed dead, Fair, as they brought him home from the holy shrines.

The fragrance of the roses still haunts me.

By some ploughing song for the finished year,

Was theullen chink of the crossing stone Less cold than that pulseless heart, my own?

How it is! O you white, white Rose,

I will lay you down on a girlish breast.

Nor yearned for the peace of unbroken rest.

You shall linger there till your bright, brief day.

Of beauty and bloom breathes itself away.

As Hord Sample.

A commercial traveler whom I know carries perhaps the most unique "sample" in the drumming profession. It is nothing less than a human body, three years old, an example of the efficacy of a certain embalming fluid. For three years this mummy has been transported on the railroads as a sample case would be, and, indeed, there is no outward sign which would indicate the uncanny nature of its contents. In this instance the longer the body is preserved the more of an advertisement it is for the fluid in the veins of the "stiff." The box is zinc lined, and does not exceed the limits of the railroad excess baggage rule in weight.—Interview in St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

THE RAILROADS.

That Decision on the Scalpers' Ticket Case.

AGREEING ON OVERLAND RATES.

Several Changes in Local Railroad Service—The Boycotted Road—General, Local and Personal Notes.

In THE TIMES a few days ago was published a press dispatch from Chicago stating that the United States Court there had rendered a decision in the matter of Peter S. Peterson against the Southern Pacific Railway Company that practically settles the rights of ticket scalpers and those who purchase from them. The facts in the case were that a merchant of Los Angeles named Wineburgh, desiring to visit San Francisco, purchased a ticket from Los Angeles to San Francisco at the special exchange rate by way of Ogden. When Wineburgh reached San Francisco he disposed of his ticket to Ottlinger, a ticket scalper of that city. Peter S. Peterson, wishing to go East, purchased the ticket from Ottlinger and rode on it as far as Wells, Nev., where the conductor refused to honor the ticket and demanded either another ticket or the fare in cash. Peterson refused either and was forced to leave the train. He then paid his fare to Chicago, where he began suit against the railway company for $25,000. The evidence for the railway company showed that when Peterson boarded the train at San Francisco he was carrying a ticket issued by the passenger, and the same result followed its presentation to the other conductors as far as Wells. The conductor on that division, when he examined the ticket, saw that another name showed on it being Peterson, who was at once telegraphed the number and other descriptive marks of the ticket to headquarters, where a record of the names of purchasers of special rates was kept. The conductor then telephoned to the passenger the purchase of the ticket. The jury in the case, acting under instructions from the Court, decided in favor of the railway company, and taxed the costs against the plaintiff.

TRANCONTINENTAL RATES.

A meeting of representatives of the transcontinental lines met in Chicago at the general offices of the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe to secure the routing of business within the territory of the association via the short lines. Circumstances are to the advantage of the short lines, and thus far the business, but their short-line traffic, on the other hand, will be protected in the same manner. If the desired result is reached, passenger business will go the natural route, and such will be reduced to a minimum.

The motion for calling the meeting was the opening up of a number of indirect routes recently.

SCRAP HEAP.

It is rumored that the Bell Electric Railway Company will purchase the Mainstreet horse car line and make it a portion of the new electric system.

The two lines are in sympathy with the boycotted Chicago and Alton road. Several eastern roads are refusing to join the movement, which is likely to prove a fizzle.

Work on grading the roadbed of the Los Angeles Terminal road is being actively pushed. The camp of the contractors Grant on Hawthorne Island, is described as a live wire.

S. H. C. Langworthy is on the sick list. Officer McKeon arrested three men yesterday, who were holding up persons, who visited Pico Heights Monday evening, report a pleasant time.

Mr. Ferguson has recovered his horse, which was stolen or strayed away several days ago.
